Comment:

I am Carol Moon Goldberg, president of the League of Women Voters of California, a sponsor of Prop 15. Now more than ever we understand how much Californians need and rely on services provided by local governments and schools. We've seen the need for public health services and services to our seniors and children. Prop 15 puts revenue directly into the hands of the local decision makers so they can best meet the needs of their communities and it will be done transparently so that residents can see how it is used. It will create a more equitable and fair tax system, one that is less subject to the volatility of income and sales tax revenues. Prop 15 will build a better more stable future for our state for our communities and for our families.
